King Calls Conference of All the Officers of Athenian Regiments

REPLY TO ALLIES' DEMAND

For Surrender of Munitions Will Be Formulated—Neutral Nations Appealed to in New Crisis—Government Is Supported by Greek People in Refusal to Give Up Arms

(Associated Press Telegram) Athens, Wednesday, Nov. 29, via London, Nov. 30.—King Constantine acting in the capacity of commander in chief of the army, this morning called a council of the officers of the Athenian regiments at the headquarters of the first army corps. The king attended the conference. Premier Laskaris declared the situation is unchanged. The decision of the crown council yesterday to support the government in opposing the demands of the entente allies for the surrender of arms and munitions probably will be formulated into a verbal note for delivery to Vice Admiral Dufourquet, commander of the allied squadron in response to his statement that he would insist on delivery of the war materials.

PEOPLE SUPPORT KING. (Associated Press Telegram) London, Nov. 30.—Reuters Athens correspondent says that the appeal addressed by the Greek government to neutral nations relating to the events in Greece since the outbreak of the war which reported as "trials supported with dignity." In regard to the demand of Vice Admiral Dufourquet, commander of the allied squadron for the surrender of war materials, the government says it is supported by the whole country in rejecting the demand, which not only wounds the national esteem but infringes the sovereignty of the nation. Notwithstanding all that has happened, the appeal says the government is confident Greece will emerge from the crisis "weakened, it is true, but nevertheless able to maintain her forces and fulfill her duty toward Hellenism."

WAR BULLETINS BOILED DOWN

To Aid Country in Prosecution of the War—Bill Offered in the Reichstag—Chancellor Declares God Has Helped Germany and Pays Tribute to Heroism of Teutonic Troops

(Associated Press Telegram) Berlin, Nov. 30.—(Wireless to Sayville.)—In an address to the reichstag yesterday, in introducing the man power bill, Chancellor von Bethmann Hollweg again announced that Germany was ready to end the war by peace guaranteeing the existence and future of the nation. In presenting the bill providing for compulsory service of civilians for war purposes, the chancellor spoke in regard to the military situation and the purpose of the measure.

"The war continues, with its destructive forces," the chancellor said. "Accordingly our enemies desire it. They celebrated the past summer as a period of victory. But did they obtain what they wanted? Our line are unbroken and Rumania, through which a great change of events was expected is now atoning for what she did. God has helped us up to the present. He will help us further."

"The almost superhuman heroism of our troops, which cannot be expressed in words of thanks, and our clear conscience, since we, the first and only ones, were ready and are ready to end the war by a peace guaranteeing our existence and our future—they give us moral right to such confidence."

"But, gentlemen, this right ought not to make us forget duty. Our enemies do not yet desire peace. They have superior numbers at British command and almost the whole world delivers war materials to them."

$180,000 WILL BE DISTRIBUTED BY MONEY CLUB

The second week of December will bring to Newark people a large sum of money when two of the local banks, the Home Building Association and the Newark Trust company, which have conducted money clubs this year, will mail the Christmas money club checks to the patrons. The Home Building Association will issue checks to the value of $180,000 and the Newark Trust company will also distribute a large sum.

This institution of a money club has accomplished a two-fold purpose in that it has educated the public to save, especially the small amounts, when heretofore it was thought necessary to have a large amount in order to invade the portals of the bank. And it fills a want felt when Christmas buying approaches and the pocket book is found empty through neglect.

For many people the club has established a savings account and when the money club check is paid it goes to swell the fund. This year the Home Building Association will distribute $180,000 as compared with $116,000 last year. In 1915, 4400 members started in the club, while in 1916, 6663 members made the first payment. The sum to be distributed represents 70 per cent of the maximum sum which would have been paid had the 6663 members made all their payments.

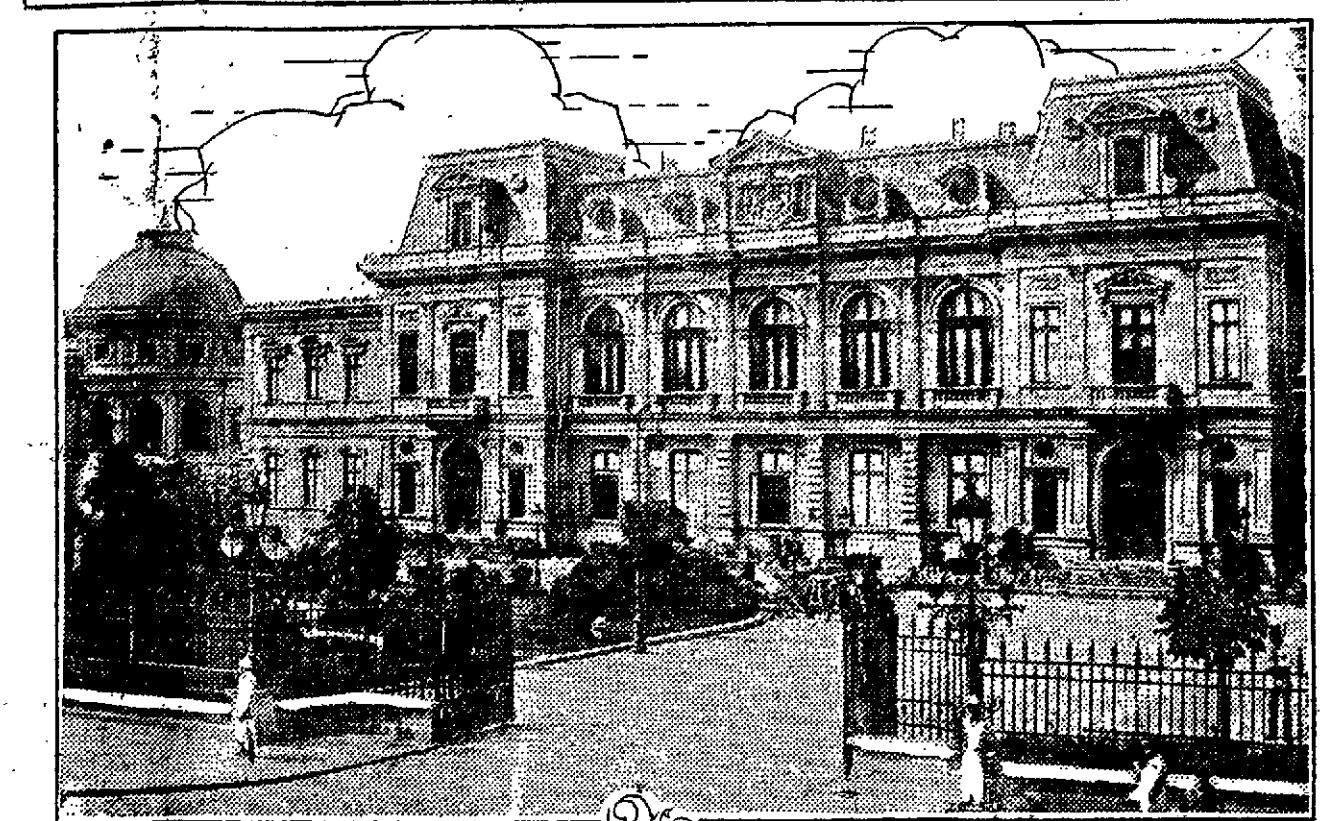

The Home Building Association will mail their checks out on December 15, while those of the Newark Trust company will be paid on December 10.

For next year the Home Building Association will make some changes in the membership, the different clubs being arranged on another plan than those conducted the past two years.

"Unspeakable Gift," Subject of Thanksgiving Sermon at Union Service This Morning

The Thanksgiving sermon at the Union Thanksgiving services this morning in the First Presbyterian church, was delivered by Dr. Charles H. Stull, pastor of the First Baptist church. The text was 2 Cor. 9:15: "Thanks be to God for his unspeakable gift." Dr. Stull's excellent discourse centered chiefly around three general heads: (1) The nature and import of the unspeakable gift; (2) the sense in which the gift is unspeakable; (3) Christian thanks should utter the unspeakable benefits of this gift in human service and uplift. An outline of the sermon follows:

This text is a joyful shout in the center of a hard fought battle line. It is a shout of a major note in the midst of a minor chord. It is the flash of a lightning across a heavy and stormy sky. Paul, who uttered these words was enduring nobly the hardships and anxieties of the true soldier. His life was not easy. He had made the great sacrifice once in his life, and now he would endure all things gladly for Him who had called him into the service. He had been cheered by the tokens of generosity coming to him from the saint at Corinth for they had remembered the poor elsewhere and their bounty had been an inspiration to other churches. But there was much to do, the call was constant, and he knew they would not fail in material gifts, since they had been so richly endowed in spiritual blessings. So he expresses his innermost joy in a glad overflowing note of gratitude: "Thanks be to God for his unspeakable gift." Such shouts of victory while the battle is still in progress are characteristic of a total and courageous faith. They are the natural overflowings of a devotional spirit, the spontaneous emotions and feelings which possess faithful souls along the pilgrimage of life. Thus the apostle would say: "Be large hearted and liberal in the bestowal."

Consider, in what sense this gift is unspeakable. It is unspeakable in that no human form of speech can adequately describe its full worth. There are great emotions in the human heart which cannot be uttered, cannot be set forth before men. There are times when a heartrending sorrow falls like a fatal stroke upon the soul, when the spirit is dumb and the tongue refuses to speak. Wordsworth spoke of the "thoughts (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2.)"

ACTRESS GETS BIG SLICE OF FORTUNE LEFT BY EMPEROR

London, Nov. 30.—A dispatch to The Wireless Press says that the will of Emperor Francis Joseph, which was opened the morning after his death to ascertain whether it contained directions for his funeral, was found to have in it a provision for a legacy of £50,000 to the actress, Katharina Schratz. This part of the will, the dispatch says, was dated some years back, while other clauses had been added during the war.

Princess Elizabeth, the emperor's granddaughter, inherits the same amount. Katharina Schratz, formerly of the Imperial Theater, for years was an intimate of Emperor Francis Joseph. At Schoenbrunn Castle, Frau Schratz was accustomed to appear nearly every afternoon to keep the emperor company for an hour or two. He in turn called at her town house, where he was able to meet friends of his own choosing and not guests imposed on him by etiquette or reasons of state. The relations between the two continued in the emperor's old age and became accepted in Vienna, where the severe criticism they caused in earlier days, before the death of the empress gradually died away.

President's Turk Costs Him Nothing; It Was a Present

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Nov. 30.—Thanksgiving was observed quietly in Washington with the annual Pan-American mass at St. Patrick's church attended by many diplomats, and government officers, the principal feature of the day. President Wilson planned to go to another church service and to have a family dinner in the White House with a large turkey sent by an admirer of the President, gracing the board.

Most cabinet members spent the day here with their families. Closing of all departments gave thousands of government employees a chance to hold family reunions or attend the Georgetown-George Washington football game. Charitable organizations distributed Thanksgiving baskets or served free dinners to nearly ten thousand persons. President and Mrs. Wilson were to attend a relief ball at the Washington navy yard tonight.

DENISONIANS MEET IN DETROIT, MICH.

The Denison people in Michigan are going to have a meeting at the Cadillac Hotel in Detroit on the evening of December 5th. All Denisonians are invited, no matter where they live. Denison songs will be sung and the old "pep" revived. The committee in charge is working hard to make this meeting a success and are asking for the co-operation of all Denisonians in the vicinity.

HOUSEWIVES BAN TURKEYS THOUGH THE PRICE DROPS

(Associated Press Telegram) Chicago, Nov. 30.—Despite yesterday's sudden slump in the retail and wholesale markets, fewer turkeys were served on Chicago tables today than on any Thanksgiving day for years, dealers asserted. A few firms open this morning quoted prices 4 and 5 cents below yesterday's high point, the birds selling at wholesale at from 25 to 27 cents a pound and the retail prices of the small dealers ranging from 28 to 35 cents a pound, with comparatively few buyers. Other fowls also dropped in price, but the declines were less sharp than those on turkeys. Reports indicated that a number of turkey raisers who shipped last week when turkeys brought around 32 cents a pound in the wholesale market, and whose carload lots arrived just as the slump set in, were ordering their live birds back rather than sell them at the low prices.

NEWARK LAWYERS OFF TO CAPITAL; ARGUE GAS CASE

The last battle in the legal war to determine the disposition of the escrow fund held in trust by the Newark Trust company in the litigation over the local gas rate will be waged in Washington, on Monday, December 4 at noon in the U. S. Supreme court, unless the court continues the case to a future date. The Adamson law case is expected to come up on the same day.

The case which is to decide whether the gas company received the money in trust or the consumers have been fought through the state courts and in each instance the decision has favored the city. On Saturday, City Solicitor Ralph Nix, accompanied by former city solicitor Frank Bolton and Edward Kibler, Sr. will go to Washington to represent the city, and Judge Douglass of Mansfield, James R. Fitzgibbon of Newark and a New York lawyer will represent the gas company at the same time. The amount involved will probably amount to more than $190,000.

MURDER WITNESS DIES; EXPOSED GAMBLING GRAFT

(Associated Press Telegram) New York, Nov. 30.—Mrs. Mary Coode, whose revelations of police graft were one of the most startling features of the investigation of police methods following the Rosenthal murder, is dead, and her death has disclosed that she devoted the last 4 years of her life to the uplifting of fallen women. Once she kept a disreputable house and according to her testimony paid certain policemen $50 a month for protection. Since her reformation, it is said, she spent most of an allowance of $8,000 a year received from her family in her rescue work.

DIET SQUAD GETS NO TURKEY FOR DINNER TODAY

(Associated Press Telegram) Chicago, Nov. 30.—There was no turkey, pumpkin or mince pie or plum pudding on the Thanksgiving dinner menu of the dieting dozen of the Chicago health department. Instead they were given roast chicken with dressing and giblet gravy. Other holiday extras were declared too expensive for a meal in the attempt to prove that it is possible to live well at the rate of forty cents a day.

However, cranberries which have not materially increased in price since last year, were served in a sauce. Turnips, mashed potatoes, celery, apple pie and coffee also were served.

DEFENDERS

Of Chihuahua Deserted to Villa When City Fell, and Officers Were Shot

BANDITS LOOTED THE CITY

Women and Children Killed and Unspeakable Outrages Committed By Followers of Rebel Chief—City Terrorized—General Trevino With Small Force Headed Towards Border

(Associated Press Telegram) El Paso, Texas, Nov. 30.—After capturing Chihuahua City from the 40,000 Government troops under command of General Jacinto Trevino, Francisco Villa granted his force permission to loot all stores and dwellings in the capital.

With cries of "Death to Carranza!" the half-starved followers of the bandit chief broke down doors of the business houses and private homes. All food supplies and clothing in the capital was confiscated by the Villistas. Jewelry and everything of value was stolen.

Women and young girls were subjected to outrages at the hands of the outlaws, and many of those who resisted were shot down. After Trevino, with the remnant of his forces, fled from the city, leaving it to the mercy of the bandit leader, chaos reigned in the capital.

Villa had promised his followers if they defeated the Carranza troops he would grant them permission to loot buildings and ravish women. This information was received here last night by United States government agents and American mining companies from their agents in Chihuahua, the reports of the pillage by the bandits having been brought to the border by couriers who left the capital last evening.

Villa and his bandits, numbering more than 7,000 men, are in possession of the Federal Palace and all the larger buildings, which have been converted into barracks for the soldiers.

The civilian population of Chihuahua is living in terror. The bandits have robbed them of everything of any value and have threatened their lives if they attempt to flee from the city.

When Villa captured the city practically all the infantry of thearrison surrendered and joined his standard. Trevino, with about 500 cavalry, fled southward is reported moving in the direction of Ojinaga, along the Texas border.

Carranza officials to be at Sauz, north of the capital. Scores of Carranza officers and soldiers were executed near the penitentiary by the bandits, according to government advices. Villa made an address to the Carranza troops he captured in the Alameda yesterday and announced he intended executing all officers. He asked the men in the ranks to join his troops. Those that refused he had shot with the officers.

The bright lights of an evening gathering show up mercilessly the defects of a poor complexion. But the regular use of makes it as easy to have a naturally beautiful skin as to cover up a poor one with cosmetics. It lessens the tendency to pimples, redness and roughness, and in a very short time the complexion usually becomes clear, fresh and velvety.

In severe or stubborn cases, Resinol Soap should at first be used by a little Resinol Ointment. All druggists keep them.

Men with tender faces find that Resinol Shaving Stick prevents irritation.

"too deep for tears," and that can be attained not only in sorrow but in ecstasy, for instance in the presence of overpowering grandeur. Men stand before the great falls of Niagara, with nothing to say. They are so moved with the immensity of the magnitude that they feel to say with Bishop Brooks, "Here human speech is vain." Those who have ever been fortunate enough to witness a great snowstorm in the Rocky Mountains appreciate something that is unspeakable. Snow descending in rifts, falling like vast sheets and blankets of purest white, training down in festoons, in ten thousand forms, and patterns and designs, stars, cubes, and wheels, beyond number. You have a hint of this same utterance impossible when you try to give adequate expression to the best in tongues. Who does not know that there are lines in Goethe which defy all translation? To undertake to put them into other forms of speech, there is a subtle fitness escapes you and is lost. So too, with Burns, the sunniest of all the poets, and who constantly refuses to be uttered in other words. Now there is a glory in the Gospel truth and fact which defies all utterance, because of the poverty of human words and sentences. The most eloquent tongue of earth cannot de-

WHY NEWARK MERCHANTS ARE ENTITLED TO THE FIRST CHANCE

George Peabody, one of the world's greatest merchants, is the man who coined this famous phrase: "Credit is the sympathetic nerve of commerce"—a factor on which is based modern civilization, international and local trade.

And it is that very thing—CREDIT—which Newark merchants DO give, often at pecuniary sacrifice, to the thousands and thousands of shoppers of our trade and industrial zone. Without such CREDIT thousands of DESERVING families and persons would be HARD put to obtain their needs.

Just because of this VITAL point in trade, Newark merchants are entitled to FIRST CHANCE to supply the needs of HOME folks before they take their DOLLARS to OTHER large commercial centers.

And on the other hand, shoppers WILL go away from Newark, where they EARN their money, unless Newark merchants remember this:

"Success in merchandising is based on right GOODS, right PRICES, right SERVICE, and the ability to tell the public about it. And the BEST way to tell the public is by INTELLIGENT newspaper advertising."

This Shop Early and At Home campaign, which starts with "Christmas Display Day," December 5, will only SUCCEED through TEAM-WORK of MERCHANTS and PUBLIC.

Altogether for OUR town.

PUBLICITY BUREAU,
Chamber of Commerce.

scribe all the glory, all the power, all the majesty of this magnificent story of God's redeeming grace. It is unspeakable also in that no theological terms have ever adequately expressed the full salvation. Theology is a branch of religious science that treats of God in His attributes, creation, and providence. But the advance of this science has been slow by many theories, organization of facts and mental deductions. We have discovered much, but the whole Church of God is yet in that condition spoken of as "seeing through a glass dimly." There are many problems yet to solve, many unknown facts to be made clear. Christianity founded upon the unspeakable gift must be preached to men the best way they know; but of its full power and benefits there is no adequate expression. The "things of spirit" cannot be fully pressed into physical molds and patterns. A thousand years from now the spirit of God shall have revealed wonders far beyond our most wondrous dreams. Christianity being more than a proposition to be believed and spoken, but a life to be lived—will go on expanding far ahead of our thoughts and words of missionary enterprise will fully set it forth in full justice to its worth. If the apostles of the first Christian century had not carried the Gospel into the west, to Rome and to Spain; no one today could tell what a difference the fact would have made to this world. Yet that early church transformed Rome and the ancient world, just as Christianity is transforming Japan and China now. To think in ideals of missionary endeavor, or speak in terms of missionary conquest, is to-day reawakening the church; and great when the whole record is made of all our labors, all of our prayers for success, and our sacrifices till we will fail to adequately set forth the wisdom of God and the power of God.

Finally, our thankfulness should utter itself in bringing our unspeakable gift to the service and uplift of others. Worship which begins and ends in the mere singing of hymns is good if it sends men out to the better service of their fellows. True gratitude to God is to be expressed in the good we can do among the sick, the fallen, the sorrowful, the needy. Jesus made that a test of his rewards in the last day—in as much as ye did it unto these. Our spiritual gifts are to find expression in lofty service among men. America cannot afford to be rich for herself alone. God never did for any people so much as He did for us, truly God's ministry on America's behalf, is an unspeakable gift—and Newark as a part of it ought to do her share in sending material comfort to those nations and peoples now stricken and starving on account of war. No nation is so rich, no people so favored; and to give nothing now that the whole world is in need, is to be ingrate among the national families of the world. And this is done, not by offering men benedictions and pious blessings, but by giving "unto him those things that are needful."

Many Are Eating
Dinner In Grills
and Restaurants

A great many people today are taking advantage of the special menus being served at the hotels, grill rooms and restaurants, and are taking their dinners away from home. Elaborate menus were served at the McDaniel restaurant and the Old Homestead grill and tables have been reserved by scores for several days. At the former a cabaret entertainment will be given between the hours of 11 and 2 o'clock and 5 to 7 o'clock, two singers from Columbus and the Philo orchestra participating. At the Old Homestead grill orchestra music will be furnished by the Rosebrough orchestra and the vocalists will be Mr. Carl Kuster and sister, Mrs. Carl Nutter. The Warden and Sherwood hotels will also serve special luncheon dinners. Kuster's in the Arcade is serving an "old fashioned" Thanksgiving dinner with orchestra music this afternoon and evening.

CHILD'S FINGER PENETRATED BY MACHINE NEEDLE

While playing around a sewing machine, early last evening, Ruth, the 22 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McDaniel, suffered the misfortune of having the middle finger of her right hand penetrated by the machine needle.

The needle entered the finger through the nail, going through the finger. The child's screams attracted the attention of its parents who succeeded in releasing the finger.

The theatrical manager reported to be looking for the homeliest woman on earth is doubtless prepared to pay her at least $10,000 a week for owing up to it.

The men were arraigned before Mayor Bigbee this morning and both entered pleas of not guilty. They were held in $200 bond and their cases continued until Monday.

SIXTY-FOUR YEARS AGO

On Monday we took a walk on the Central railroad east of the depot. It is finished and the rails laid for some distance. The great unfinished job is at Black Lick, where a heavy cutting will require some time yet to finish. The other parts of the road we learn will soon be done, and the cars will run from Columbus to that point and taking the passengers from there, they will bring them from Zanesville and Newark. The entire road, it is hoped, will be done early in January. It will do a heavy business.—Ohio State Journal, Nov. 30, 1852.

LEAGUE LOST MONEY.
Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 30.—Clubs in the Western league lost from $1,000 to $10,000 each last season, according to Frank Isbell, manager of the Des Moines club. "The league used to have from $4,000 to $5,000 in its treasury each year," Isbell said "but last season we had nothing. Every club in former years used to make money. Denver drew fewer than 50,000 last season. It used to draw as high as 150,000."

HAD LOADED GUN WHEN ARRESTED WAS BOUND OVER

Benjamin Smith, colored, arrested last night on a charge of being drunk and carrying concealed weapons, is being held for grand jury investigation. There is little doubt among police officials that Smith was caught with the goods on him, as he carried a loaded revolver, a mace, a safety razor and a package of cartridges.

Joe Rose, arrested on a warrant by his wife was arraigned in police court this morning, but his case was continued till Monday. Nine drunks and two train riders received the usual fine of $5 and costs.

EAGLES WILL PRODUCE FINE MINSTREL SOON

The Eagles are rehearsing faithfully for their annual minstrel show which is to be given at the Auditorium theatre December 14 and 15. The director is Win Griffith, an old time comedian who has been with some of the leading theatrical companies and who has been producing amateur minstrels for several years.

The first part is to be in the nature of a cabaret entertainment, the scene representing the lawn of the Ponce de Leon hotel at New Orleans, in which sixty-eight people will be on a scale never heretofore attempted in this city, the scene being one of grandeur that will long linger in the memory of those who witness it.

It will be handled in professional style of many of the boys who will participate have had much experience. The principal comedy roles will be handled by such capable men as Messrs. George Winters, Elmer Linden, George Rohan and Newark's favorite black face comedian, Mr. Ralph Loomis, who has the knack of keeping his audiences convulsed with laughter from the time he appears upon the stage.

Ballads will be sung by Messrs. Fritz Drake, Herman O'Shaughnessy, Joe Roban and that entertaining vocalist Frank Strear, whose services are always in demand at public entertainments. These gentlemen will be heard in the latest big song hits, numbers made famous in the big grill rooms and cabarets.

The olio has been selected with great care and will be more than pleasing. There will be a number of first class vaudeville acts by artists especially engaged for the Eagle show, including "Weasle Feasley, the undisputed champion of acrobatic dancing, the great Beam, wizard of the horizontal bar, the Three Dais Brothers Musical Fools, and a number of other clever acts.

UNCLE SAM WORKS ON HUGE WORLD MAP; OTHER NATIONS ASSIST.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Rapid progress is being made by the United States in preparing its portion of the huge world map which was agreed upon in 1905 by nearly all the principal countries of the world. The agreement the authorities began preparing maps of the entire surface of the earth to be published on a scale of one-millionth of actual size, or about one inch to every sixteen miles. All the maps are to be uniform in shape and general appearance and are to have the same conventional signs.

To meet the popular demand in this country for State maps, the United States Geological Survey, which has charge of the making of the American section of the world map, is preparing and publishing maps of each State on a larger scale than the world map sections. These State maps are twice the size or about one inch to every eight miles. A map of the entire United States on that scale would cover a sheet measuring 20 feet by 31 feet.

The survey already has issued such maps for 33 states, the latest being that of Florida, which is one of the largest of the series. In compiling the maps, every available source of information has been ransacked for material, and many data never before available to the public in any form have been procured, so that the maps exceed in accuracy any heretofore published. The new Florida map measures 44 1-2 inches by 61 inches.

Copies of the state maps are sold to the public by the government at nominal price.

SHRUBS THAT ATTRACT BIRDS.
With the rapid disappearance of bird life, there is a growing appreciation of birds and a greater desire to attract them to our homes. One method of doing this is to plant trees and shrubs bearing fruits that birds eat. The following list gives a few suggestions: Woodbine, bitter-sweet, wild grape, matrimony vine, sumac, wild roses of many kinds, barberries, snowberry, coralberry, elderberry, high and dwarf bush cranberries, arrowwoods, sheepberry, wayfaring bush, withered tree and shrub dogwoods, blueberries, spice bush, mulberries, wild cherries, mountain ash and thorn trees.

GIRL CHAMPION PIG RAISER.
Margaret Lowery age 12, of Madison County is the state pig club champion for 1910 of the boys' and girls' clubs conducted by the Ohio State University Extension Service. Margaret raised two pure bred pigs at a cost of $3.76 cents a pound. The average daily gain of each pig was 1.95 pounds. They were fed corn, middlings and skim milk and were allowed to range on blue grass pasture.

BOY POULTRY CHAMPION.
Chester Smoot of Fulton County is the poultry champion of the state in the boys' and girls' poultry raising contest conducted by the Ohio State University Extension Service. Chester raised 135 chicks from a hatch of 140. One pound of chicken was obtained from each 2.13 pounds of feed. During the first three weeks the chicks were fed cracked corn, cracked wheat, gravel grit and a mash of ground wheat, beef scraps and sour milk.

GOOD ROADS HELP.
Washington, Nov. 30.—Cost of hauling produce to and from the farms of the country is reduced as much as 25 cents per ton-mile by good roads according to calculations of experts of the department of agriculture.

FOOD FOR POULTRY.
Washington, Nov. 30.—That valuable meal for feeding cattle and poultry can be recovered from waste at fish canneries has been determined by investigations of the department of agriculture's scientists.

ARTISTS MADE HOLE BY WAR, EMPLOYED TO DECORATE SCHOOL ROOMS.

London, Nov. 29.—Artists in distress through the war are being employed to decorate the walls of many of the public schools of this city with friezes and panels, illustrating life and industry in the British Dominions beyond the seas. One of the most striking pictures depicts London with St. Paul's cathedral overlooking the Thames and barges and steamers moving about the river. Others are of pastoral scenes in Canada, Austria, South Africa and the West Indies. By extending the work throughout the school system the board of education hopes to develop the imagination of the pupils and possibly develop a large school of decorative painting in England.

The resolution bore the signatures of 22 of the members but it was defeated by a vote of 35 to 28.

Modern Thanksgiving Day.

According to the rhetorical proclamations issued by presidents and governors, and according to historical traditions, Thanksgiving Day is a religious occasion. We are to meet in our churches and publicly render thanks to God for His goodness. Also in private devotions we are humbly to express our gratitude.

The average American passes over all this very lightly. He is a bit ashamed of religious feeling. If there is a sentiment of gratitude in his heart he would not confess it.
Thanksgiving Day is principally a day for eating a big dinner, usually more than the human stomach can take care of. There are aftermaths of indigestion. In a great many places it is a day for football. The churches are sparsely attended.

No occasion can have real significance where the principal event is eating a big dinner. Turkey courses do not promote moral, spiritual, or civic advance. But there are at least two phases of the day that are in every way worthy of its best traditions.

It is still the occasion for a good many family reunions. Not as many as formerly, for families are scattered all over the world. The servant question, the high price of food, act as a check.
Not so frequently do you see those enormous tables filled with parties of ten, twenty, or thirty relatives. The large Thanksgiving Day reunion is apt now to take place at a hotel.
The return to the old hearthstone is much of a myth. But it is a mighty good thing to renew the old ties of relationship. There ought to be a certain binding relation of intimacy between blood kindred, but it would never survive were it not for these occasional reunions.

Undoubtedly there are more deeds of charity today than ever before.
This is the best kind of expression of the feeling of the day, better even than any church service. So long as so many turkeys and pies and cakes are delivered unostentatiously at the doors of the poor, the very best sentiment of the day is preserved.

Health Insurance.

Bills are to be introduced this winter in 20 or more states for some form of health insurance. It is proposed that the state pay one-fifth of the cost, the employer two-fifths, and the employee two-fifths. Only those receiving incomes of less than $100 a month would be eligible.

Before assenting to the above, the tax payer would want the habits of candidates for insurance to be looked into. There are a large number of people who follow intemperance and frequently the injection to "take a little with your stomach's sake."
Also with variations of the beverage to suit taste and purse. It is of course done out of pure desire to preserve their physical efficiency, yet prying medical examiner would be skeptical.

It is of course possible that some form of health insurance might be worked out that would not be a burden. Certainly absence of employees because of sickness is a great source of loss to business firms. If they could be sure that their workpeople would comply with sanitary requirements and submit to regular health inspections, there are a good many employers who would say they could afford the cost of contributing to such an insurance fund.

Women Workers On Farms.

The sight of women doing agricultural labor used to be considered an un-American one. It was thought that our chivalry would not permit this form of feminine toil. A dispatch from Great Falls, Montana, though, tells how many women are helping their husbands thresh their grain. Help is so scarce that on many farms the wives and daughters and sisters are busy all through November at this task. This is evidently a typical condition that could be duplicated in many other localities.

In districts where there is a large alien population, the sight of women working in the fields is no novel one.
The peasants of Europe are used to field labor on the part of both

Thanksgiving.

(Memphis Commercial Appeal.)
We ate so used to food and drink,
O God,
So used to palment, that we count
These of small moment when times come to take
Of all our gifts the whole amount.
Through sense of justice these seem ours.
O God,
The wages of our daily care.
We plowed and sowed and reaped, and hence
The harvest seems our rightful share.

But these fill not the measure up,
O God,
Or even half recount the score
Of all the free-gift blessings which in
Into our lifted hands you pour—
For tender word that healed our hearts
For quiet dusks and golden dawns,
For chance you gave to lift a beggared heart,
For rose of love amid life's stinging thorns
But for one thing more than all else.
O God,
We render thanks, our heads bowed low—
For Peace! That in our homes or
'neath our far-flung flags
No death-toned martial bugles blow.
For blessed Peace; and that our men,
O God,
Feed not the cannon's glutton maw,
And that our tender women, scourged
and bent,
Weep not beside the pyres of war.

Retrospect of Victory.

(Nathan Straus Jr. in Puck.) Campaign issues are often soap bubbles filled with air by gesticulating stump-speakers, only to dissolve into mist the morning after election.
This was not true of the 1916 Presidential campaign. There were great and important issues to be determined—issues merely represented by the two candidates. The financial interests on one side tried to conceal this fact by calling attention to the similarity between their candidate and the President. The best they could in truth say of their candidate was that he was much like the man they wished to have him displace.
But the identity was on the surface, the differences were purposely hidden. Seldom, if ever, have presidential candidates been personally as much alike; perhaps never in our history have the force back of them been as conspicuously opposite. Certainly, never in our history have so many loyal citizens felt that a defeat for the Administration would be a blow to their whole idea of Americanism; that to see a man who had done so much for American peace and American progress defeated at the hands of high finance and foreign influence, would shake their whole faith in the possibility of a real government by the people.

A record of legislative achievement unique in our history left in its wake a wreckage of enmity unique in its bitterness. The various interests attacked and offended by the Wilson record of constructive legislation were forced, willingly or unwillingly, to unite in mutual self-defence. They chose as their candidate an upright and worthy man, but they did not blind the American people to the real facts.

It is important that a great and good man has been sustained and maintained in office. It is important that an administration unique in the history of our country for forward-looking, progressive legislation should be kept in power. It is important that continuity of policy in handling a most intricate foreign situation is now assured. But, most important of all, this election gave the lie to Europeans who claimed that race ties were the essence of nationality, and that America a melting pot of many peoples was an impossibility. They tried to prove,
and certain elements among us tried to help them, that we were composed of mutually hostile groups each group tied to a foreign potentate.

Germany After the War.

(New York Post.)
The latest seer to prophesy just what will happen after the war is over is Professor Kunz Francke. It is a sport in which anybody may qualify, whether he be a Harvard professor, a Wyoming star-gazer, or even an editor. When the world is in a cataclysm the outcome of which no man can foresee, anybody's guess is as worth while as anybody else's. Those who realize the magnitude of what is going on, and the fact that the world is being irresistibly swept on to its fate, whatever that may be, by the terrible forces which have been set in motion, are careful not to attempt to forecast the future save to say that what is indisputable—that the world can never return to the old order, and that, in the belligerent countries at least, the existing order will undego a vast change.

But Professor Francke sees far more deeply than that. If the press reports of his lecture are correct, he beholds a greater and nobler Germany—speeding the day!—arising out of the purifying sacrifices of the war, with great and progressive changes in army, church, state, school and the status of women, all as the result of the frightful bloodshed that is now witnessing. The Kaiser, he reports, on the strength of a private letter from one who recently spent an evening with him, a changed man, who is rapidly becoming the greatest of reformers, the keenest to see that vast changes are needed even in this nation of super-efficient supermen. By some magic, the old rift between the army caste and the civilians is to be ended; the bureaucracy is to be as expert and as honest as ever, but not as autocratic nor as remote from the people as before, while Junker and Social-Democrat are to be brought together as never hitherto—all because the fighting millions will return from battleship and trench "with a heightened sense of what citizenship implies and what is the people's due."

This is indeed a lovely picture for anybody to draw, and Professor

Francke evidently enjoyed to the full the painting of it. But, alas! It appears that after all this paradisi-cal change is not to take place automatically and overnight. It is to come as a result of great national strife. For Professor Francke admits that every war, successful or otherwise, "has the tendency to increase the demands of the advocates of millitarism and of class rule."

An Unreclaimed Empire.

(Cleveland Leader.)
In these days of short crops and high prices for farm products it is interesting to read that very high authorities calculate the area of swamp lands in the United States which can be drained and made available for agriculture at not less than 75,000,000 acres. Once dried out these lands would need no more expensive cultivation, as a rule, than other farms, and their average productiveness would doubtless be excellent. Swampy lands in many cases are exceedingly rich and lack nothing but relief from excessive water.
To value rightly the importance of such drainage work it is only necessary to know that the swamps which can be made fit for crops contain twice as many acres as are now devoted to cotton, and if used for corn they would add 72 per cent. to the acreage now required for that foremost of American cereals. It is beyond dispute that really adequate and comprehensive improvement of lands subject to inundation or excessive moisture must add at least 10 per cent to the volume of six or seven of the most important crops grown in the United States.

Here is work worthy of the best powers of the national government and the states. It will pay richly in the long run and it is needed more and more as the population of the country increases and its open spaces are filled up.

Wheat Prospects for 1917.

(Detroit Free Press.)
As might naturally be expected, in view of the unprecedented prices of wheat and flour, and the prospects that the war will continue into another year, all signs point to an increased acreage of wheat in the West, and particularly in the spring wheat belt of the Northwest. The timely rains facilitated fall plowing.
One reason for the shortage of the current crop is that the fall of 1915 was so dry that in many regions were unable to plow, and whereas fall plowing is the necessary preparation for winter wheat, spring wheat does much better on land plowed the previous season than when "stubbled in." Winter wheat seeding has been delayed in the hope that the Hessian fly might be lessened by frost and cold. The dry fall, apart from delaying plowing has not been a special drawback.
Experience has proved that the best preparation for the growth of winter wheat through the winter is just moisture enough to germinate the seed and force a strong root growth.
Too much water means surface rooting and inability to withstand cold and drought.

There is also a boom in farm machinery, especially in the West.
It is being ordered for present delivery, farmers being resolved, apparently, to take no chances as to its being on hand when wanted. The problem of labor is also greatly helped by the improved farm machinery, now an absolute essential of successful farming. The question of good seed is worrying the farmer most at present, the inferior quality of this year's crop creating a scarcity.

Quaker Quips

(Philadelphia Record.)
In trying to get a man's goat it is just as well not to get the butt end.
Prosperity is the rust on the hinges of the door of adversity.
None are so blind as those who are visionary.

You can't always win a man's friendship by betting with him.
Even the laundryman may find
he has too many irons in the fire.
Every man to his trade. Even the dentist can't fill a long-felt want.
You don't have to pump the organ in order to get all the church gossip.

You never can tell. Lots of people are dull in spite of their sharp features.
Rather than be a leader, many a man prefers to follow his own inclinations.
It's an admirable trait to admit a fault, especially if it's another person's fault.

You never can tell. History sometimes makes a hero of a man who is really too scared to run.
Don't jump to the conclusion that a fellow is well balanced just because he parts his hair in the middle.

Every man to his trade. The auctioneer knows more about sales than the sailor knows about auctions.
A woman's idea of "a mean hateful thing" is merely another woman who knows a secret and won't tell it.

The way you abuse Forget-It is a sin!
Would tell you what I think
But am rather short of ink—
And besides, I scarcely know how to

But I think it's very shabby of you Willies
Just because I called you a lot of sillies,
To write in such a fashion—
And get into such a passion—Well, now I think you are a lot of gillies.

And, as in such nice language you affirm,
That nothing but an insect or a

I would really like to tell
That I don't believe in—well,
And the way a worm you cannot make

And though I am so near,
That you Willie couldn't guess it if you tried.

Just because you're at loss to tell the
Of this, your deadly foe.
For I would have you know That my name is neither Willie, Jim or

And I'm not the least bit jealous of your fame;
For your poetry, to me, sounds rather tame:
Keep on, ye would-be braves:
Here's to him who loudest raves:
Success to all the Willies just the same!

I'll admit you've kept up a merry pace;
But Forget-It is not distanced in the race.
She may be an "also ran,"
For of course she's not a man;
But, as yet, she hasn't taken second place.

It's the lack of ammunition you require!
So I'll go on calm, unbleeding of your ire.
I don't mind your little puns,
Now that I am dead, don't let it Worry you, but just Forget-It.
And go on writing poetry that's "queer."

Granville

(Special to Advocate.)
Granville, O., Nov. 30.—A delightful afternoon was passed at Byrn du, the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Jones, on Wednesday, when the Woman's Music club presented a varied and interesting program under the leadership of Mrs. Richard Colwell, who gave brief sketches of the life and characteristics of the German, English and American composers represented. Mrs. J. S. Jones and Miss Eva Wright gave a brilliant and musically rendering of Raff's Suite, Opus 200, "Savanne-Musette" on two pianos, which showed the artists' touch. Mrs. Everett Johnston, lyric soprano, contributed a group of three charming songs in a way to delight the most carping critic. With Mrs. Karl Ashton at the keyboard the singing quality of the Steinway grand was exquisitely brought out in the accompaniments. "A Thanksgiving Fable," by Beach, "The Heart of Her," by Cadman, and "Joy of the Morning," by Ware as interpreted by Mrs. Johnston merited the applause they elicited. Miss Lora Wright, one of the younger members, played with sure touch and correct interpretation Elgar's "Saut d'Amour"; Rumant's "Prelude in B flat Minor, and Gann's "The Rose Complained." Miss Wright was also accompanist for the double trio and is providing her value to the club as an accomplished pianist. Elgar's "Pleading" and Alliston's "A Story of Thanksgiving," were sung by Mrs. Marion Rose Johnson with exquisite feeling and splendid tone and the natural beauty of the two compositions was further emphasized by the masterly touch of the accompanist, Mrs. J. S. Jones. Mrs. Karl Ashton was at her best in MacDowell's "Idyll," Opus 28 No. 4, and in a group of Oldberg's "Sunrise and "Scherzino," which revealed true musical insight. The double trio directed by Miss Houland was the most ambitious chorus yet attempted and showed the results of careful training. "Lochinvar's Ride" by Shelley, was sung with splendid tone and excellent precision of attack by Mrs. J. W. Rohrer, Mrs. Roe Morrow, Mrs. C. J. Lovelace, Mrs. J. L. Ogilvie, Mrs. J. D. Thompson and Mrs. Elsie Carter. The chorus work, while somewhat exacting, is undoubtedly most interesting and enjoyable.

Mrs. C. E. White in Current Events was particularly happy in her treatment of timely topics. Among other events of recent occurrence, she dwelt somewhat upon the first state convention of the Ohio Clubs, which was held in Akron on November 14. An attendance of seventy delegates at this, the initial conference, was a remarkable record, and the enthusiastic reports brought to the meeting of what is being accomplished along musical lines, and the new movement for community music, which seems to be spreading like wild fire all over the country, seem to indicate that the millennium of music is at hand. This State Federation aims to make Ohio a musical unit; to see what co-operation and the larger meaning of community spirit as existing between city and city, can do for a state in musical way. Hostesses of the afternoon were: Mrs. Marion Rose Johnson, Mrs. Everett Johnston, Mrs. C. J. Lovelace, Miss Blanche La Ferre, and the guests were: Mrs. W. C. Sheppard of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Miss Eva Robinson, Mrs. J. E. Cochran, Mrs. Ira Perry, Mrs. August Odebrecht, Mrs. Pierson, Mrs. John Geil, Misses Margaret Seashole, Fern Ashbrook, Imogene Hamblen and Anna Gumbish.

Mr. James Webb, the well known horseman and trainer, has just purchased the promising four-year-old colt owned by Mr. C. J. Pence. The youngster is bred in the purple and Mr. Webb is sure to develop him into a speedy performer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Geil, who have been in the Upper Congo region of Africa for the past five years and arrived in Granville a few days ago at the home of Mrs. Geil's mother, Mrs. Rockwood, in South Mulberry street. The voyage was not devoid of excitement as during the last six months their vessel showed no lights, and on the last night out the passengers were fully dressed and ready to take to the boats—both crew and passengers having engaged daily drill in preparation for the worst.

Miss Gertrude Carpenter left this morning for New Salem where she will spend the Thanksgiving holidays with relatives.

Prof. and Mrs. August Odebrecht and son Andre have gone to Calcutta to spend the week-end with relatives and friends.

Both Thelma Peil will entertain informally this evening at Curtis hall.

A. F. F. W. BRINGS CHEER TO MANY SOLDIERS IN EUROPEAN HOSPITALS

The "organized Christmas" has been offered as a panacea for every ill and abuse that mars the spirit of the Christmas tide. No organization can be any substitute for the giving that comes from the heart, without bound of creed or charter; nevertheless, movement after movement, originating in the spirit of Christmas gladness, has brought the joy of service in place of the too-often barren giving that is without thought or purpose.

The A. F. F. W. is a new movement that has awakened an instant response, wherever the impulse to give has sought an unhampered and far-reaching outlet. Margaret DeLand, in her Christmas editorial for the Woman's Home Companion, suggests its work as indicative of the new Christmas of work and service. Its purpose is simple—an hour of forgetfulness and pleasure to some lonely boy, sick and friendless, in a European hospital. Beginning with a little group of American women who knew the horror of after the battle condition, their appeal has been met with instant and wide response. The cost is little—an hour of time, a few pennies or dimes in money, a little message from heart to heart, to carry hope and cheer across the sea to one who needs it more than America can realize. The bandages, the pillows, the comfort bags, carry a deeper message from America to France than can well be appreciated. The comfort bags perhaps means most of all—a towel, a cake of soap, a writing tablet, are beautiful things, except as suffering and loneliness may make them so—a picture puzzle, or a mouth-organ for the blind soldier, means one less dreary hour in all the darkness stretching ahead. This is the mission of the American Federation for the Cripple Wounded.

Newark is taking her part in this work, but she needs more help, more service. Many women have come to offer a part of their Fridays to the work and more are wanted. For the work the Singer Sewing Machine Co. has aided generously by donating machines. Many have come to help. Especially appreciated was the work, last Friday, of the West End Sewing Circle, whose members generously gave their help for the day.

Any woman who is interested in the work, is earnestly asked to come any Friday, for all, or part of the day, and sew with those who have pioneered the movement. She will be made welcome and will find pleasure in the work.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

BOWSER-SCHOBER WRESTLING MATCH GOES TO A DRAW

Neither Man is Able to Secure a Fall in Two Hours of Hard Wrestling at the Auditorium.

Billy Schober of Indianapolis, the toughest man that ever stopped on the mat at the Auditorium, last night wrestled a two hour draw with Paul Bowser, world's middleweight champion.

At the end of the bout, Bowser looked the probable winner. The match had gone to a finish, while Schober had the appearance of a man badly battered and worn out. The Indianapolis grunter during the last 20 minutes of the bout staggered and fell all over the stage apparently exhausted. His hard battle with Bowser was still going on when the men went on the mat.

That Bowser tried all the way to dispose of his man, was the opinion of the fans, but Schober was guilty of stalling for time. Time and again the Hoosier rested and held onto the local man like a drowning man clutching to a straw and in this manner conserved his energy.

While there is little doubt that Bowser can defeat Schober in a finish bout by the aid of his wonderful endurance power, he was unable last night to dispose of his man in the two hour limit. Schober was proved by his record on that mat that he is one of the toughest little men in the game and to defeat him a man must possess super-human endurance.

The Hoosier mat artist is strong and speedy. He knows that game from A to Z and is an exceptional clever blocker. He showed this clearly by successfully evading Bowser's several attempts to secure the famous toe hold. Bowser may have been over cautious because of Schober's reputation of being tricky and his record of wins over the greatest middleweights in the country, but the local man was not less than six times of passing up what appeared to be an excellent opportunity to secure his foe.

But great many outsiders see many advantages that a wrestler or boxer has to score a fall or a point, but to the men in the contest the opportunity is over looked. This seemed to be the case last night with Bowser.

Both men worked hard from the beginning of the match until the end of the two hours, but as the bout progressed Bowser seemed to be gaining what he had lost in the early stages of the fight in strength and speed. For the first hour and a half, Schober outlasted the local man and several times looked like a winner when he would slip on his hands and feet that would tie the champion into a knot.

Then Bowser would assume the offensive and tear into Schober only to work into another trap or be out-clasped by the visitor's great defensive work. On several occasions Bowser threw his foot and once once threw him to the mat.

But despite who may be the better man in a finish bout, the fans will probably never see a harder fought battle than that of last night. Bowser at the end of the bout carried a black and blue mark from the elbow to the shoulder on his right arm, while Schober gasped and fought to regain his breath.

A great deal of this was a stall on Schober's part, as he was still strong when he would go to the mat with Paul near the finish of the bout. Paul still had the strength in the body beneath him and stated after the match that he was taking no chances of Schober leading him in to the mat and then coming to the floor and slamming the champion to the floor thus gaining the decision.

After the bout Bowser refused to continue the match for 15 minutes as he thought he could secure a fall if he had that much more time. But Schober said he had enough time to win and he would like to meet Paul at 158 pounds in a finish bout, or else bring his "unknown" here under the same conditions.

The local man is sure that he can get down to 158 pounds, but if he can, he will give both Schober and his protegee a chance at the middleweight title.

The largest crowd of the season was present in the theater when the first preliminary was staged. It was a first minute limit affair between two middleweights termed themselves "Strangler" Lewis and Young Stetser. This was a good bout and kept the fans in their seats. The other preliminary was slow and uninteresting, both boys remaining on their feet most of the 15 minutes they were on the mat. Neither went to a fall.

Arthur Skein and Frank Nutter were the principals in the semi-windup, Charles Neale and George Washington were the principals for the preliminaries and the main bout in the absence of Herbert Weber, the regular official, Charles Neale was the referee. The last bout at the Auditorium for three weeks, when some notable grapplers will be brought to Newark to wrestle handicap matches.

BETTING FAVORS PENN IN ANNUAL GAME WITH CORNELL

(Associated Press Telegram)

Philadelphia, Nov. 30.—The University of Pennsylvania and Cornell met in their twenty-fourth annual Thanksgiving day football game here today on a rain soaked field. Although Cornell has won the last three contests followers of the Red and Blue hoped for a victory and the earlier favors Pennsylvania, 10 to 8. Prior to 1913 Cornell won only once. In 1901, while in 1905 the teams played a scoreless tie.

The Cornell team averaged five and a half pounds more than the Pennsylvania team, the average weight being 181 1/2-11 pounds for the Ithacans as compared to 176 1/2-11 for Pennsylvania. Some of the critics figured that Cornell's heavier team would be benefited by the weather condition while others declared that as Dr. Sharp had planned to use open plays in this contest the team would be somewhat handicapped.

A crowd estimated at 20,000 the capacity of the field, viewed the contest. The probable lineup:

PITTSBURGH AND PENN STATE WILL FINISH SEASON

(Associated Press Telegram)

Pittsburgh, Nov. 30.—Rain which fell practically throughout the night made Forbes field heavy for the football game here this afternoon between the University of Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania State college was expected to slow down the contest.

The Panthers slightly outweigh their opponents and are a big favor. Both Coach Warner of the local team and Coach Harlow of the State squad pronounce their men in perfect condition and declare they are confident of the result. Hasting and Morrow, Panther stars who have been nursing injuries have recovered and will be in the lineup.

The demand for seats has been exceptionally heavy and a record attendance is expected.

STAGE IS SET FOR FOOTBALL CLASSIC TODAY

Fair Weather Assures Fans of Two Star Football Attractions—First Game at 1 o'clock.

The greatest football attraction ever staged in Newark is slated for this afternoon at Wehrle Park, when the McDaniels and the Marion Queens clash and the Fitzsimmons and Frank, The Hater, teams settled the controversy as to which is the better team.

The first game will be called promptly at 1 o'clock between the two local teams, and the second game will be started about 2:30 o'clock.

The McDaniels will have a team strengthened by the acquisition of several new players, two of whom are college men, while the Questions will present the same strong aggregation that has been making football history in Marion this season. The games will absolutely be played as the grounds are in good condition, considering the rains of the past two days and weather indications for today are that it will remain clear and colder.

BROWN MAY WIN EASTERN TITLE IN GAME WITH COLGATE

(Associated Press Telegram)

Providence, R. I., Nov. 30.—The remarkable football records made by Brown and Colgate this season gave unusual interest to the game here today. Brown, which has not lost a game and which defeated both Harvard and Yale, will be generally regarded as the champion football team of the east if she defeats Colgate today. Colgate has been defeated only by Yale.

The men on both eleven were in excellent condition. There was prospect that their physical endurance would be severely tested as the weather early in the day was unusually warm for the season. The probable lineup:

Basketball Squad at Denison Quits For Thanksgiving

Granville, Nov. 30.—Denison held its last basketball practice before Thanksgiving yesterday. The practice was very strenuous for so early in the season and consisted entirely of scrimmage. Captain Jenkins and Cook were used as the forwards during the greater part of the evening. Meredith was stationed at center, but the guard positions were filled by a number of different men. It is expected that the squad will be cut down to about a dozen men as soon as practice resumes Monday.

The freshman squad will start practice immediately after the Thanksgiving recess. The basketball material among the new men is extremely good and they will undoubtedly duplicate their performance in football and give the varsity a lot of hard practice.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 30.—The Iron Trade Review today says: Steel making pig irons in the valleys have been advanced $5 per ton for the past week and other grades of iron are being advanced almost as rapidly. Prices of finished materials are also being moved up, but demand continued unchanged. Iron ore prices for next year's delivery have been advanced $1.50 per ton, which means an increased cost of about $5 per ton for pig iron. Reservations of immense tonnages of ore have been changed into contracts, but it is expected that further buying of eastern territory at the new prices will be rather slow.

The demand for plates is tremendous. Norwegian ship builders are in the east in person trying to get steel. Was Disappointed.
Cephas "Shorty" Wagner, who had expected to eat Thanksgiving dinner with his parents and brothers and sister at Gloucester, today was forced to undergo a bitter disappointment.
He arose at 5 o'clock in order to catch the 7:30 train but upon arriving at the station was informed that it would not leave until after 9 o'clock, too late for Mr. Wagner to make connections at Junction City.

DISEASE

Disease is principally a lack of attention to the human organism, combined with heedlessness to repeated warnings.
The physical structure, burdened and oppressed cries out for assistance, mainly through the brain in the form of Headaches. The signal is disregarded.
Dr. Green's Nervura helps headaches arising from any source by recharging and strengthening the entire Nervous System, and with the nerves strong, liver active, headaches are an impossibility and threatening, serious or even fatal diseases are

William Weisgarber, proprietor of the Wet Wash laundry, received a sixteen pound chestnut fed turkey from friends in Providence, R. I., yesterday, fellow associates of the New Haven railroad, where the Newark man was formerly employed. It is being served with all the trimmings at the Weisgarber home in the turkey was a big lobster which tipped the scales at five pounds.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF TURKEY DINNER FILLED THE JAIL

Huntington, W. Va., Nov. 30.—
"Last year we announced a week ahead of time that we'd serve turkey Thanksgiving day and we had more prisoners than the jail had contained for months—so I look no chances this year," explained Jack Cole, turnkey at the local city jail today, in announcing the menu for today's dinner for his prisoners. Newspaper men had been unable to learn until today what would be the piece de resistance at the bastille.

CAUGHT BETWEEN CAR AND TIPPLE MAN'S ARM BROKEN

Frank Clem, aged 23 years, 408
East Main street, employed as laborer on the local coal chutes of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company, this morning suffered a compound fracture of the right arm and probably internal injuries, when he was "pinched" between the wall of the coal tipple and a coal car.

He was removed to the Sanitarium in Bazler's ambulance where he was attended by Dr. J. R. Mc-Clure.

The young man suffered a number of bruises in addition to the fractured arm, but the attending physician was unable this morning to determine if he had sustained internal injuries.

GOVERNMENT TO CONTROL MINES IN SOUTH WALES

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, Nov. 30.—The government's decision to assume control of all the coal mines in south Wales on December 1 under the defense of the realm act was announced today late last night to enable commentators as yet to gauge its probable effect. The announcement was a surprise to both sides in the miners controversy and,
judging from preliminary statements by individuals, both miners and employers are more or less dumbfounded.

Secretary Richards of the south Wales miners federation, after an outburst of astonishment, declared emphatically that the miners would oppose such a measure unless it were made applicable to the coal mining industry of the whole country.

BURGLARS USE GAS; BURN AWAY DOORS TO SAFE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Springfield, O., Nov. 30.—Using gas to burn their way through the doors of the vault safe burglars made an attempt early this morning to loot the First National bank at Osborn. After burning their way through the vault door the burglars started on the safe. They opened the outer door of the safe in the same manner. There were still two doors before the cash box could be reached. The last door shows they had started to burn through it when they gave up. It is supposed they were frightened away. Only a few pennies are missing.

DON'T BE BALD

Here's a Good Way to Stop Loss of Hair and Start New Hair Growth.

If the hair root is absolutely dead,
permanent baldness will be your lot,
and you might as well cheer up as to bemoan your fate.

If your hair is falling or thinning out, don't wait another day but go to "The Hair Root Reviver," a bottle of Parisian Sage, the truly efficient hair grower.

Don't say, "It's the same old story; I've heard it before," but try a bottle at their risk. They guarantee Parisian Sage to grow hair, to stop falling hair, to cure dandruff and stop scalp itch or money back.

Parisian Sage contains just the elements needed to properly invigorate the hair roots. It's a prime favorite with discriminating ladies because it makes the hair soft, bright, and keeps it in abundance. It is antiseptic, killing the odors that are bound to arise from excretions of the scalp and has everyone knows, sage is excellent for the hair and scalp.

Parisian Sage is inexpensive and easily obtainable at drug and toilet counters everywhere.

Amusements

AUDITORIUM.

"Peg O' My Heart."
There is a vast difference between the comedy that appeals to the sympathies of the audience, and the comedy that merely makes them laugh. The latter is forgotten almost as soon as seen, but the former leaves pleasant memories behind. In Oliver Morosco's production of "Peg O' My Heart" which will have its second presentation at the Auditorium today, matinee and night, J. Hartley Manners has written what he describes as "a comedy of youth," and the title is an apt one, for the central figure is one of irresistible youth, and the central idea is concerned with the influence of youth. A comedy with universal appeal must have good qualities, and Peg has many. In Peg, Manners has created a character of delightful originality and the brief story of his comedy tells is full of quiet wisdom and charity, underlying its superstructure of delicious fun and frolic.

The play is refreshingly wholesome, in which there is nothing dependent upon double entendre, nothing in which innuendo plays a part. It is a clean, natural story, without a line that one could wish omitted or a thought one would prefer unexpressed.

Mr. Morosco has provided a competent cast and complete production.

Sins of Her Parent.

This is the scene where Gladys Brockwell meets Carl Von Schiller. Miss Brockwell is merely giving what critics of the drama call the "illusion of the first time in acting." When you see this scene in your theatre, you will think, from its freshness and originality, that the two principals have not met before this one incident in William Fox's "Sins of Her Parent." Yet they have rehearsed this scene several times before taking it.

This feature together with Pathe Weekly, full of current events, also its funny cartoons together with "Twas School Days," will be at the Auditorium feature Friday and Saturday.

"The High Life Girls."

Among the features to be presented with the "High Life Girls" which attraction appears next Monday at the Auditorium theatre, will be seen Mr. Warren Travis, the world's greatest athlete. Mr. Travis's performance is truly marvelous in every particular. He uses and applies entirely different methods to the presentation of his accomplishments than any other in his particular line. He has thoroughly convinced every nation before whom he has appeared that he is indeed the world's greatest strong man and weight lifter. Mr. Travis's measurements are as follows: Weight 185 pounds, height 5 feet, 8 inches, neck 17 inches, chest 44 inches natural, chest 48 inches expanded, waist 34 inches, biceps 16 1/2 inches, forearm 13 inches, wrist 7 1/2 inches, thigh 25 inches, calves 16 inches. Mr. Travis is the greatest heavy-weight lifter since the days of Biblical Samson. Some of Mr. Travis's wonderful achievements are as follows: Lifting twenty men; holding back six heavy draft horses; tug of war style; holding back four horses, two on each arm; lifting the world's largest dumb bell with men about 1000 pounds. Record lifts are, record back lift four thousand pounds; holding up five thousand pounds with back and knees. Finger lift, five thousand and twenty-five pounds; harness lift five hundred pounds, lifted three thousand times in sixty-two minutes, total, one million five hundred thousand pounds; world's record harness lift, three thousand six hundred pounds; two handed lift, fifteen hundred pounds. Two handed wrist lift, seven hundred and fifty pounds. These records here given have never been approached, and Mr. Travis issues an open challenge at each and every performance to anyone who will come forward and follow him in his performance. The performances of Mr. Travis have startled the whole of Europe and has the proud distinction of having appeared before kings, emperors, princes and courts of all the leading countries. His performance is all that it is claimed to be. It is truly marvelous. Seats on sale tomorrow.

Stock Company.

Mr. Fenberg has arranged for the appearance at the Auditorium starting next Tuesday for five days, for Miss Mae LaPorte, a comedienne.

Miss Rea Martin as "Peg" in "Peg O' My Heart," at The Auditorium this Afternoon and Tonight.

who has appeared at many of the leading theatre's throughout the country to great success. Dainty Mae LaPorte as she is known will present during the five day engagement many of the New York late successes. The opening play for Tuesday night being "The Lady from Laramie," a play that will appeal to the masses and one that has made millions laugh. Miss LaPorte has a very clever company, the costumes, scenery, effects, etc., being the best that money can buy.

The plays to be offered during this engagement will include "The Editor's Romance," "The Chorus Girl," "The Lure," "Three Twins," "The Breadwinner," etc. Ladies will be admitted for Fifteen Cents on Tuesday evening, this number being limited to three hundred. Seats for Miss LaPorte's engagement will go on sale Saturday morning.

ALHAMBRA.

In one of the scenes of "The Plow Girl," a Jesse L. Lasky production which will be seen at the Alhambra Friday and Saturday, Mae Murray, the clever and charming Lasky star who plays the stellar role, has to don a pair of Mr. Roberts's cast off trousers, and flee. Miss Murray is what is commonly known in restaurant parlance, a "half portion." Theodore Roberts in the same vocabulary would be spoken of as "club size." Just how Miss Murray expects to flit in Mr. Roberts's cast-off raiment is more or less of an enigma. Several of the humorists at the Lasky studio have suggested that she blow them up like a balloon and make an aerial departure.

Girls! You'd better look your prettiest or HE will be apt to forget about your charms. Why? Because Clara Kimball Young, after a long vacation, is again appearing before the public. But you love her, too? Then by all means make HIM take YOU to the Alhambra theatre Sunday, to see her in "Without a Soul," which is one of the biggest pieces in which she has ever appeared.

WATCH YOUR STEP.

"Watch Your Step," a spectacular, snatched musical comedy production, comes to the Hartman theatre, Columbus, for a return engagement on Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee, Dec. 8 and 9. "Watch Your Step" is a real musical comedy, providing plenty of opportunity for the demonstration of the talents of the clever and well known entertainers which compose the company of nearly one hundred people. The music for "Watch Your Step" was written by Irving Berlin. Harry B. Smith wrote the book, Helen Dryden designed the gorgeous costumes, and the piece is produced by Charles Dillingham, whose fame is wide spread for lavishness of settings and beauty of stage effects. There is a large beauty chorus with the company, and a cast of well known principles.
